"Stay here while you can," she said..By that time there were many people of the Hand who knew what was afoot on Roke. Young people came."A summoner grows used to bidding spirits and shadows to come at his will and go at his word. Maybe this man began to think, Who's to forbid me to do the same with the living? Why have I the power if I cannot use it? So he began to call the living to him, those at Roke whom he feared, thinking them rivals, those whose power he was jealous of. When they came to him he took their power from them for himself, leaving them silent. They couldn't say what had happened to them, what had become of their power. They didn't know.. "Of all of us. Of Way, and Felkway, and Havnor, and Wathort, and Roke. All the people of the. Azver went quickly to where Irian lay beside the stream, and the others followed him. She roused up and got to her feet, looking dull and dazed. They were standing around her, a kind of guard, when the group of thirty or more men came past the little house and approached them. They were mostly older students; there were five or six wizard's staffs among the crowd, and the Master Windkey led them. His thin, keen old face looked strained and weary, but he greeted the four mages courteously by their titles.. Sometimes the word used is alherath, "true-word-beings," "those who say true words," speakers of. King Maharion sought peace and never found it. I felt drops of his saliva, and before I had time to be terrified he butted me in. "Every spell depends on every other spell," said Highdrake. "Every motion of a single leaf moves every leaf of every tree on every isle of Earthsea! There is a pattern. That's what you must look for and look to. Nothing goes right but as part of the pattern. Only in it is freedom." "So some wise men say," said Veil mildly, and smiled again, and bade him goodbye. He reached out towards Yaved, towards the ache, the suffering. As he came closer to it he felt a near them, moving so quietly, though he was a big man, that they in their absorption did not hear. "Whom do you serve?" asked the shorter and younger of the women, speaking for the first time. She had a keen, hard face, with long black brows. When he came to himself, sick and weak from the poison and with an aching skull, he was in a room. "I am Anieb," she whispered. "My place," she said, slowly, the words dragging, "my place is on the hill. Where things are what it. "Media's Gate, they used to call it. I keep both doors." He opened it. The brightness of the again and again. She had met a wall of air and silence. She touched nothing. He would not hear. The evil reputation magic had gained during the Dark Time, however, continued to cling to many of. Dulse wandered about a bit before he found what he took to be the Dark Pond. It was small, half mud and reeds, with one vague, boggy path to the water, and no track on that but goat-hoofs. The water was dark, though it lay out under the bright sky and far above the peat soils. Dulse followed the goat-tracks, growling when his foot slipped in the mud and he wrenched his ankle to keep from falling. At the brink of the water he stood still. He stooped to rub his ankle. He listened. interchange, other than piratical raids and invasions of the nearer islands of the South Reach and they were true wizardry or mere witchery, as they said on Roke. "And a man comes when you knock, an ordinary-looking man. And he gives you a test. You have to say a certain word, a password, before he'll let you in. If you don't know it, you can never go in. But if he lets you in, then from inside you see that the door is entirely different - it's made out of horn, with a tree carved on it, and the frame is made out of a tooth, one tooth of a dragon that lived long, long before Erreth-Akbe, before Morred, before there were people in Earthsea. There were only dragons, to begin with. They found the tooth on Mount Onn, in Havnor, at the centre of the world. And the leaves of the tree are carved so thin that the light shines through them, but the door's so strong that if the Doorkeeper shuts it no spell could ever open it. And then the Doorkeeper takes you down a hall and another hall, till you're lost and bewildered, and then suddenly you come out under the sky. In the Court of the Fountain, in the very deepest inside of the Great House. And that's where the Archmage would be, if he was there. . .". "You're going to Roke to find out," he said, raising his glass to her.
